To Whom It May Concern:

This is a federal civil rights complaint pursuant to the U.S. Department of Education's Office for Civil Rights' discrimination complaint resolution procedures.

Do No Harm brings this complaint against the University of Minnesota Medical School for discrimination on the basis of race, color, or national origin in programs or activities that receive federal financial assistance in violation of both Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 42 U.S.C. § 2000d et seq. and the Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

Do No Harm makes this complaint as an interested third-party organization that opposes racial discrimination in American medical schools and healthcare organizations. Supporting evidence is attached to this complaint as Exhibit A and B.

As the Department is no doubt aware, Title VI declares that "no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance." 42 U.S.C. § 2000d. As a recipient of federal funds, the University must comply with Title VI and, by extension, the Equal Protection Clause. See Gratz v. Bollinger, 539 U.S. 244, 276 n.23 (2003) (holding that the requirements of Title VI are coextensive with the requirements of the Equal Protection Clause). The University is flagrantly violating these obligations.

The University's "Diversity in Pediatrics Visiting Student Elective Award" is a program "intended to support [Under-Represented in Medicine] URiM students through mentorship, networking, academic exposure outside of their primary institution, and funding." Awardees receive a $2,500 stipend to cover the cost of living expenses and many professional and career development opportunities.

These financial benefits and professional opportunities, including a guaranteed pediatrics residency interview, however, are strictly limited to individuals of certain races or ethnicities. As the University openly admits—indeed, advertises—students must be "[b]elonging to a historically excluded group (under-represented in medicine) including Black/African-American, Latinx/Hispanic, Native American, Pacific Islander, Native Hawaiian, Filipino, Hmong, Vietnamese, and/or mainland Puerto Rican. See Ex. A. The University enforces these racial distinctions by forcing students to specify their race when they apply. See Examples A and B.

In light of the University's facially discriminatory eligibility standards, we ask the Department to promptly investigate the allegations in this complaint, act swiftly to remedy unlawful policies and practices, and order appropriate relief.

Thank you for your prompt assistance with this request for investigation and resolution.
